What Do We Export?

Dates/Mangoes Seasonal: Shipping foods require the highest level of care and protection. One has to take necessary steps to maintain its freshness, texture, aroma and taste while transporting perishable goods. With Caerus, you can put your mind to rest because over the years we have optimised our services to cater to your evolving needs. We protect and take good care of mangoes and dates so one can enjoy it at the right time.

Fruits & Vegetables: Fruits and vegetables need special care and attention, whether it's about growing them or exporting. We ensure that no chemicals are used in order to keep their taste and texture intact. On top of that, to maintain the freshness, we monitor the temperature and humidity of the place where these fresh crops are stored. At Caerus, we have adopted technologies that ease our processes to transport fruits and vegetables across the world.

Dairy Products: There's no denying that when it comes to the world's biggest dairy industry, India has made its mark, producing more than 100 million tonnes of milk. And therefore, when it comes to exporting dairy products, we manage every process diligently and cautiously. Our storage and temperature controlled facilities offer an integrated solution to every demand.

Textile: Indian textile market is an industry that offers a spectrum of products that are suitable for different segments of the world. Hence, we have customised our services to aid these wide range of products.
